fac as my memory runs back, my father a sed quantities of proupkins, which he fed mainly to the cows, although occaionally it would be necessary to feed a lew loads to other stock to get rid of them. He had his favorite variety of sweet pumpkin-a large, flat, yellow Epileptic Fits, Falling Sickness, Hysterkind-and by saying seed from the heaviest and finest, I believe he male;) ally improved the variety.

Last spring I produced seed of as many varieties of the squash and pump kin family as I could get from the seed: och, and planted-some among potati vines, and others in the corn, where I usually raise my pumpkins. The ev periment paid for its interest. I had a good deal of pleasure and amusement watching them grow, mature and de velep their several shapes, and sizes and richly varied markings. We tested many kinds for the table and for pies. The cows and pigs tested everything. will not tire you with a detailed accoun of each kind, but will simply state that of squashes we found none better than the cld Hubbard; many very good though, and suiting different lastes. ed in connection with Habbards, as they are more hardy and proline and nearly equally gook-the Cocoanut and Little Gem, for instance, and the Red China squash is a beauty. Some of the mam moth varieties were so poor in quality that the cows nearly refused to eat them. I fed them to cows, fattening steers (on corn ration), pigs and horses I fed in profusion—han ing great loads out and scatte ing them over the fields letting the animals devour them at their eisure. There is nothing in the danger of feeding them with the seeds innever remove these. I have hauled out half a ton of them to one cow, and she would graw into them and cat out the seeds first thing; no injury followed. How brood sows and their pigs do thrive on pumpkins and shipstuff and middlings! I made a meal chest with a self-feeding attachment. I pour in the meat; the pigs do the rest. I still use the self-feeder; it is a great convenience and the pigs can have their feed wher ever their appetite calls for it. Will i

Fruit Acids.

It is true that fruit eaten green or be tween meals will interfere with digestion and with some people cause bowe troubles, but use fruit that is perfectly ripe at meal time and only beneficial results will follow, according to Medical Classics. Acids prevent calcareous degeneration, keeping the bones elastic as well as preventing the accumulation of earthy matters. This is because of the solvent powers of the acids. Manufactured acids are not as harmless as are those which nature has prepared for us CREAN BALM in the various kinds of ripe fruits.

How to Put Away Furs and Woolen

Furs and all woolen garments should moth-miller and buffalo-beetle are ready to lay their eggs. When either of these reatures have once taken un their habi tat in either fur or wool, neither camphor, pepper, cedar-wood or tobacco will drive them away, and the eggs will hatch out in a cedar chest or in an atmosphere impregnated with camphor and probably with any other preventive; and the grub will go on with his accustomed work, perfectly satisfied with his surroundings. The beetle, however, voids all the so-called preventives and will not lay its eggs in any substance which is impregnated with them. Neither will it select a garment in regular use for its purpose. If all stray woolens and furs not in use are put away even in simple newspapers in which pieces of amphor gum have been laid, little danger may be apprehended from the ravages of moths. These insects especially dislike the light of day, and are more likely to take up their habitation in some old woolen garment or cast-off fur cape, hung up in a dark closet, than anywhere else. Having once secured an abiding place, it is doubtful how far their ravages will extend. It is necessary, therefore, that a housekeeper should have no "clutte at this season. The closets should be in order, and there should be no clump of old wood left in the corners as an invitation to moths. Long garments should be simply hung up in a cottan bag made of stout, unbleached nusiin, with pieces of camphor or tar paper pinned around, so as to insure a powerful ador of the preventive. The touth of such a bag should be sewed up firmly. A long garment put away carefully in this way, will come out in the fall without a single wrinkle. Small woolens may be sealed up in newspapers nd packed away in an old whisky barrel or a cedar chest. There is probably no better place than a whisky keg for this purpose. It is well enough to exunine furs that are put away, once or wice during the season, as the mothuiller has the reputation of being ex-eedingly clever in discovering any crevices left open in the wrappings of goods but away during the summer. It may be added that all garments should be thoroughly heaten before being but away so as to rid them of an insect enemies who may be concealed i them. - New York Techune.

Cure for Insomnia.

It has been found in most cases that sommia is caused by disordered stom uch. Worry will unsettle the stomach as ind gestion will inflate the blood ves sels of the brain. Recognizing this medical men are ordering the use of hot water internally. Before going to bed the person so afflicted should bathe the ower limbs in hot water—as hot as

This is for the purpose of drawing the blood from the head, for when the blood vessels are inflated they press against the skull, and fears, apprehensions and dread of going to sleep result. But with the hot water application the blood is circulated and the pressure re-lieved. Next the sleepless one is advised to drink hot water, with the juice of t lemon or a little table salt added This will settle the stomach and dis tribute the gases.

AIR IN YOUR SLEEPING ROOM - One of the bogbears of old-time people is night air, and there is little exaggeration in saying that the superstition against night air has killed more people than the tree circulation of it has ever injured. There is an abundsuce of proof that night air is injurious to uo one. On the contrary, people who sleep outdoors under the mere protection of a tent are the healthiest of all people, and the practice has largely gained in popularity of late years, under wider knowledge of hygiene, for people in delicate health to go in camping parties and breathe the balsam of he night air. Unless there is abundance of air in ing room at night the health of the occupant is sure to soffer. Unless there is a current of air flowing through a room, the atmos phere soon becomes poisonous, and the individual who breathes it is in a condition to invite colds, influenzes and knudred diseases of the thorax or lungs.
